

Naomi Korn Associates is one of the UK's leading management consultancies specialising in copyright, data protection and licensing. Our team of experts have the commercial, technical and legal expertise to fulfil all the responsibilities of the Data Protection Officer Role.

The Named Data Protection Officer Service

Since the introduction of the Data Protection Act 2018, most organisations are legally obliged to have a Data Protection Officer. Naomi Korn Associates can undertake this role, utilising some of the most experienced experts in the country at a far reduced cost to employing a full time member of staff. This service can be purchased for one organisation or shared across many.
